Ronda,

The students are still talking about your visit and are requesting your books. The teachers were very pleased as well. I know of one teacher who has already asked me about the writing workshop winner book. She got right on it and assigned the writing.

Thank you so much for coming to Oak. Author visits are a lot of work but I do truly enjoy planning the event, meeting authors and exposing the students to great writers. Who knows, one day one of our students might be a very well known author.

The students are patiently waiting for the books to arrive. A parent sent this on to you but thought you'd enjoy a repeat. . .

"Tonight I sat in the glider and read P.U. You stink to Kennedy. I didn't realize the author had written her a tiny note in the corner or that the book is two in one for little kids and bigger ones. This was probably one of the coolest books I have seen. The pictures are fantastic and the rhymes are a lot of fun. I wish you could have seen her little eyes looking all over the bright colorful pages. Best book we have!!!! Thanks, Mrs. Debb!! Love you very much"

Thank you again for all that you did to motivate the students to write and read.

Have a great weekend!
